Online Directory Composition Software

O'Neil's ONEdirectory composition tool allows you to customize or personalize any type of Directory. ONEdirectory is a browser-based system that requires no software investment on your end. With ONEdirectory, you can eliminate your typesetting service bureau or your in-house desktop publishing software.

Your typesetting budget will be reduced considerably with ONEdirectory. You maintain control of the data, page design, proofing and editing process, but the one thing you do lose is the expense! You will realize a return on investment (ROI) the first year using ONEdirectory.

ONEdirectory also reduces your print budget. You will have the power at your fingertips to build customized and personalized directories, thus reducing page counts, which will streamline directory production costs. ONEdirectory's eDelivery feature will electronically direct a Directory PDF to your end-user via email or other electronic means.

ONEdirectory Highlights:

- Simple to use web interface
- You control every aspect of directory page composition
- Customize Covers, Introduction pages, and Table of Contents
- Linked to our Print-on-Demand and offset print systems
- No software or hardware investment
- Dramatically reduce typesetting and printing costs
